

June 26, 2009

A memo from Brian Elliott

To Our Valued Customers receiving grants for the Water Pollution Control and Public Water Supply programs.

Subject: Section 1605 of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009

KROHNE: Investing for Growth in America.

KROHNE, Inc., based in the United States since 1979, is solely focused on providing its American customers the best process measurement instrumentation and services available. Our business mission is to add appreciable, tangible value to the world class products we develop, produce, market, sell and support throughout America.

KROHNE's fundamental value proposition is to produce the most innovative and highest quality process measurement solutions, and this mission transcends all we do in Peabody.

In response to growing demand for our goods and services, production capacity has grown substantially and in the past year KROHNE has invested heavily in further enhancing production and calibration facilities in Peabody while also expanding our geographic reach with more sales and support offices.

Flow and level units sold in the United States are assembled, configured, tested or calibrated in our Peabody factory. Our employees are dedicated to their task, and every instrument produced by KROHNE is rigorously verified to fully comply with customer requirements before leaving our factory floor.

But beyond the product, KROHNE, Inc.'s value is also based on its range of services. These include a broad network of experienced sales, support and application experts throughout the region. We also have a network of field service resources to deal with after sales support, as well as a full factory service and warranty and repair facility.

Clearly, America faces a monumental short term economic challenge, but the stimulus programs outlined in the ARRA are a step in the right direction that provides many benefits. Based upon the guidance issued to date by the Environmental Protection Agency, the KROHNE products manufactured in our Peabody facility are goods produced in the United States for purposes of the ARRA.

Our entire Peabody, MA based company is dedicated to contributing to the recovery and we are ready to answer the call.

Sincerely,

Brian Elliott, President
KROHNE, Inc.